MEMORANDUM for the Superintendent,
Yellowstone National Park.

We understand that Yellowstone used, with success, the bait method of luring bison holding corrals and I should appreciate hearing from you as to the procedure employed.

It is necessary to reduce the size of the bison herd at Colorado National Monument and we contemplate trapping about ten of the animals for removal from the monument. It is impossible to use the roundup or driving method, and we are particularly anxious to secure any advice you may be able to give us luring the animals into the holding corrals.

John S. McLaughlin,
Coordinating Superintendent.
