National Park Service of the United States

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digscholarship.unco.edu/hove>

1. List types of lectures. Give total number attending lectures; education trips; visiting museums; etc.
2. Give approximate miles of trails available in park to public.
3. Give approximate miles of roads available to public in park.
4. Give number of public camps, stating capacity.
5. List outstanding wildlife in your park.
6. If possible, give number of different species of trees; flowers; birds; animals; etc., in park.

It will readily be appreciated that this information will be of great value to the Washington Office when it becomes necessary to indicate the tangible values and importance of the various units of the system when a reply is required to be made to official communications involving policy and for presentation before Congressional as well as local committees, etc. Any information, in addition to the foregoing, which you consider would be interesting or useful in this connection will be appreciated.

It is realized that the assembly of the information may involve considerable work, however, most of it should be available in your records. Please submit 2 properly executed copies of this memorandum to the Regional Office not later than January 1.

(signed) H. Maier

Acting Regional Director.

Hovenweep is an isolated area, without regular personnel, reporting only 168 visitors for the last travel year, and without importance in the present study.
